

ARE YOU CONDUCTING HUMAN SUBJECTS RESEARCH?

It's More Than You Might Think!

If your research involves any of these:

- Private information or general data (including surveys) that is identifiable to specific individuals,
- Tissue, specimens, or bodily materials traceable to specific individuals,
- Intervention or interaction with human subjects, or
- Humans to test devices, products or materials developed through research

then federal laws govern your work and specific requirements must be met before your study can begin. Contact your Institutional Review Board (IRB), your local DOE field office or:

DOE HUMAN SUBJECTS PROTECTION PROGRAM
Office of Biological and Environmental Research
Phone: 301-903-3213 e-mail: humansubjects@science.doe.gov

Learn more by visiting the DOE Human Subjects Research web site
<http://humansubjects.energy.gov/>